SECTION 1: SUMMARY OF CHANGES

Preface

This edition of the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Survey manual contains UCR specifications for all legislation released prior to January 1st, 2021. Please see subsection 1.1 'Legislative Changes' for a detailed description of new legislation which have occurred since the release of the previous version of the manual in February 2020.

1.1 Legislative and Other Changes

There are two types of changes that affect the UCR survey: changes brought in by the Government of Canada in the form of a new bill or law and changes that are initiated by the Canadian Centre for Justice and Community Safety Statistics (CCJCSS), most often as a result of feedback or requests from police services.

Bills that are introduced by the Government of Canada, and which subsequently become law, restrict what the CCJCSS can and cannot do. The new laws must be implemented, on the date they come into force, by all police services and records management software companies. This normally means new data entry rules and possibly a series of new UCR survey codes.

The second type of changes are those initiated by the CCJCSS, often at the request of police services. These are changes aimed at simplifying or clarifying scoring rules, making reporting more uniform, or making the UCR reflect more closely what police services capture. These changes should be made whenever possible, either through updates, a patch, or an upgraded version of the software or by manually adding to the concordance tables.

List of recent changes to the survey

The Quarantine Act

Due to the need for relevant information surrounding the impact of COVID-19, the Canadian Centre for Justice and Community Safety Statistics (CCJCSS) has introduced the following violation code to the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Survey: 6600 'Quarantine Act'

Prior to the introduction of this code, violations against the Quarantine Act were captured under the UCR code 6900 'Other Federal Statues'. UCR code 6900 will remain a valid violation code in order to capture any remaining federal legislation not otherwise assigned its own unique UCR code.

Effective Date

Effective immediately, police services can begin using and submitting the new UCR code 6600 'Quarantine Act' as their records management systems are updated to allow them to do so. Due to the importance of complete data in the context of COVID-19, police services are encouraged, if possible, to update any recent incidents involving a charge against the Quarantine Act in relation to COVID-19 to reflect this new code.

Details

Police services are required to submit a UCR incident for any violation against the Quarantine Act including those that are dealt with by issuance of a ticket. The Quarantine Act requires any persons entering Canada—whether by air, sea or land—to quarantine (self-isolate) themselves for 14 days if they are asymptomatic in order to limit the introduction and spread of COVID-19. The 14-day period begins on the day the person enters Canada. The Quarantine Act UCR code of 6600 should be used ONLY when an individual has violated a quarantine order or if a member of the public has reported a suspected violation under the Quarantine Act.

Provincial and municipal by-laws are not within the scope of the UCR survey and are not required to be submitted to CCJCSS through the UCR survey. These incidents can be recorded in your RMS for internal purposes should your police service choose to do so. While the addition of code 6600 is in direct response to the need for data on COVID-19 at this time, this code is not specific to the COVID-19 virus and can be used for any violation against the Quarantine Act as it may be applied to other communicable diseases in the future.

UCR Requirements

6600 – Quarantine Act Maximum penalty: 3 years

Sections: All valid sections under the Quarantine Act.

Incident record:

Incident 'to' date: No restrictions. CCJCSS will allow incidents from earlier in the year to be updated to this new code.

Most Serious Weapon Present allowed, and Weapon Status values: Not applicable (not a violent offence)

Incident Clearance Status: Offences dealt with through the issuance of a federal ticket like those dealt with through summary or indictable offence should be cleared with Incident Clearance Status= C 'Charged or Charges Recommended'.

Charged/Suspect – Chargeable record:

CSC status: Offences dealt with through the issuance of a federal ticket like those dealt with through summary or indictable offence should be coded as CSC Status= 1 Charged or Charges Recommended.

The correct statute for charges laid or recommended is FS 'Federal Statute (Other than those listed)'.

Victim record:

Victim records are not allowed for this violation.

UCR Survey label changes related to some prostitution offences

The Canadian Centre for Justice and Community Safety Statistics (CCJCSS) has introduced changes to selected prostitution violation and roll-up code labels used for collection and publication within the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Survey. These changes are in response to suggestions and commentary from both police services and data users and are intended to make the language used more inclusive and respectful, moving away from terms like "commodification" and towards language that describes the offences themselves. These changes were endorsed by POLIS in September 2019 and are effective immediately.

UCR CODE OLD LABEL NEW LABEL 0190* Total Commodification of Total Offences in Relation to Sexual Activity Violations Sexual Services 3140 Communication to Provide Public Communication to Sell Sexual Services for Sexual Services Consideration 3141 Stopping or Impeding Traffic Offences Related to Impeding for the Purpose of Offering, Traffic to Buy or Sell Sexual Providing or Obtaining Sexual Services Services for Consideration

The changes are as follows:

* This is not a violation code that will be found in your RMS. This is a rollup code used for publication. Includes counts for the following offences: 1711 - Obtaining sexual services for consideration, 1712 - Obtaining sexual services for consideration from person under 18 yrs, 1721 - Material benefit from sexual services, 1722 - Material benefit from sexual services provided by person under 18 yrs, 1731 – Procuring, 1732 - Procuring - person under 18 yrs and 1740 - Advertising sexual services

SECTION 2: INTRODUCTION

2.1 Information for Respondents

Authority

Statistics Act, Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, Chapter S19

Objectives

This survey collects essential incident-based data on the nature and extent of crime in Canada. It provides comprehensive data for more complete crime analysis, resource planning, and program development for the policing community. Municipal and Provincial governments use these data to aid decisions about the distribution of police resources, definitions of provincial standards, and for comparisons with other departments and provinces. To the Federal government it provides information for policy and legislative development, evaluation of new legislative initiatives and international comparisons. As well, media, academics, and researchers use these data to examine questions about crime.

Confidentiality

Statistics Canada is prohibited by law from publishing any statistics which would divulge information obtained from this survey that relates to any identifiable respondent/individual without the previous written consent of the respondent/individual. The information reported will be treated in confidence, used for statistical purposes, and published in aggregate form only. The confidentiality provisions of the Statistics Act are not affected by either the Access to Information Act or any other legislation.

Collection Registration Number:

STC/CCJ-140-60100

SECTION 3: GENERAL RULES OF UCR SCORING

In order to collect data and produce crime statistics which may be compared across Canada, the rules of the UCR survey must be applied uniformly. The purpose of this section of the manual is to provide information regarding the key concepts, general rules and terminology used by the UCR survey.

3.1 UCR Terminology

Violation

Refers to a contravention of the Criminal Code or other Federal or Provincial Statute.

UCR Incident

An incident for the purposes of the UCR survey is considered to be the set of connected events which usually constitute an occurrence report and may contain one or more violations of the law (and their related victims and charged/suspect – chargeable records). These may be grouped into the same unique incident if and only if they are committed by the same person or groups of persons and if they occur at the same time and place. There are some exceptions to this rule. Please see the section on 'continuing offence rule' for more information.

An incident can contain one to four violation codes. The most serious violation, as determined by the maximum penalty, is referred to as Most Serious Violation (MSV) within an incident. When reporting, the MSV must always be the first violation code listed on the record. Your records management system may be programmed to do this automatically.

Victim

The term victim is a central concept in UCR scoring. For the purpose of reporting incidents, a 'victim' is a person who is the target of a violent or aggressive action (or threat) and should not be confused with a complainant who is the target of a non-violent incident. A 'violent' violation of the law generally involves the use of aggressive action (with the intent to do harm) or the credible threat of such action by one person against another. The survey also collects 'victims' of criminal traffic violations. For this, the victim is the target of an intended/unintended violent action.

People who have been victimized as a result of lost property, either through damage or theft, are defined as 'complainants' rather than victims.

Charged/Suspect - Chargeable

A Charged/Suspect – Chargeable (CSC) is a person who has been identified as an accused person in an incident and against whom a charge may be laid in connection with that incident.

Place

A 'place' as defined by the UCR is a single connected property that is owned, rented, or occupied by the same person (or group of people), e.g., a residence or a business. In the case of property crimes the 'place' is extended to include motor vehicles.

Motor vehicles are defined as:

"A vehicle which is propelled or driven other than by muscular power, but does not include a vehicle which operates on rails".

The concept of 'place' applies only to non-traffic violations.

Below are the categories of motor vehicles which are defined as a single 'place':

Automobiles - includes all models of automobiles and station wagons.

Trucks - includes all models of trucks and buses designed to transport people or freight, including vans and motor homes.

Motorcycles - includes all types of motorcycles with two or three wheels such as motorized bicycles, e-bikes, or motor scooters.

Other Motor Vehicle - includes motorized snow vehicles, farm tractors, commercial-use lawn mowers, and other self-propelled farming implements, cranes, fork-lifts, graders, buildozers and other self-propelled vehicles (designed and used on construction sites, building, and maintenance of roads and in the lumber industry), army tanks, army jeeps, all-terrain vehicles, and golf carts.

The vehicle's registration is not a criterion for determining whether a particular vehicle is a motor vehicle or not. The following are not considered motor vehicles under the UCR definition of 'place':

- o aircraft
- o boats
- vessels of all types
- hovercrafts
- power wheelchairs, and
- o non-commercial type snow blowers.

Place – Examples:

A single home, the attached or detached garage, the backyard and driveway, the backyard shed, which are all located on the same contiguous property and that belong (or are rented by) the same person.

Two apartments in the same building are separate places if they are rented or occupied by different people.

The city home and the cottage, owned by the same person, are separate places because they are not connected.

Two cars are considered separate places for UCR survey purposes, except when multiple motor vehicle thefts occur at one the same location at the same time. This can be recorded on one incident record, using the counter to indicate the number of motor vehicle thefts that occurred.

Three business offices in the same building that have no business connections to each other are considered three different places.

Definition of Peace Officer

(a) A mayor, warden, reeve, sheriff, deputy sheriff, sheriff's officer, and justice of the peace,

(b) A member of the Correctional Service of Canada who is designated as a peace officer pursuant to Part I of the Corrections and Conditional Release Act, and a warden, deputy warden, instructor, keeper, jailer, guard, and any other officer or permanent employee of a prison other than a penitentiary as defined in Part I of the Corrections and Conditional Release Act,

(c) A police officer, police constable, bailiff, constable, or other person employed for the preservation and maintenance of the public peace or for the service or execution of civil process,

(d) An officer within the meaning of the Customs Act, the Excise Act 2001, or a person having the powers of such an officer, when performing any duty in the administration of any of those Acts,

(e) An officer authorized under subsection 138(1) of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act,

(f) A person designated as a fishery guardian under the Fisheries Act when performing any duties or functions under that Act and a person designated as a fishery officer under the Fisheries Act when performing any duties or functions under that Act or the Coastal Fisheries Protection Act,

(g) The pilot in command of an aircraft (while the aircraft is in flight),

(h) Registered in Canada under regulations made under the Aeronautics Act, or

(i) Leased without crew and operated by a person who is qualified under regulations made under the Aeronautics Act to be registered as owner of an aircraft registered in Canada under those regulations, while the aircraft is in flight, and

(j) Officers and non-commissioned members of the Canadian Forces who are;

(i) Appointed for the purposes of section 156 of the National Defence Act, or

(ii) Employed on duties that the Governor in Council, in regulations made under the National Defence Act for the purposes of this paragraph, has prescribed to be of such a kind as to necessitate that the officers and non-commissioned members performing them have the powers of peace officers.

3.2 Scoring Rules

Score Only from Police Sources

The basic source of information for UCR scoring is the police occurrence report. It is important that all categories of crime and traffic incidents occurring within a police jurisdiction be reported so that statistical data published by Statistics Canada is complete, accurate, and factual. Only police departmental records should be used when compiling statistical returns.

Assistance Cases

Police services should only report incidents which occur in their jurisdiction or where they have primary investigative authority. A police service assisting another police service should not report the incident to Statistics Canada. In order to prevent duplicate submissions of the same incident it is encouraged that police services communicate with each other when more than one police service is involved in a particular incident.

Integrated Units

Due to the nature of integrated units it is important that agencies communicate and come to an agreement on which agency will report the incident.

Related Charges

The UCR survey is incident-based NOT violation-based. If one violation on the incident is cleared, the entire incident is considered cleared for UCR purposes. An incident may be "cleared by charge" under the data element 'Incident/Clearance Status' if a charge is laid in connection with any of the violations on that incident. The violation cleared does not necessarily have to be the most serious violation (MSV) within the incident. A related charge can be used to clear an incident.

Homicide Survey

A set of detailed Homicide Survey forms (i.e., Incident, Victim, Accused, Police Victim or Correctional Victim forms) will be requested from the police service for every incident of culpable (criminal) homicide reported to the UCR survey. Criminal homicide is defined in the Criminal Code of Canada, section 222 and includes 1st degree murder, 2nd degree murder, manslaughter and infanticide.

8000 Series

The 8000 series is reserved for internal codes and municipal by-laws. Statistics Canada does not use the 8000 series violations for analytical purposes.

3.3 Definition of an Incident

Definition

An incident is defined as a set of connected events usually constituting a police occurrence report. An incident may involve several victims, several CSCs, and multiple violations of the law. Below are several rules to be considered when entering a UCR incident report.

Traffic Violations

All traffic violations have to be separated from non-traffic violations and should be recorded as separate incidences.

The Continuing Offence Rule

In some cases, several violations are recorded together under what is referred to as the Continuing Offence Rule. This means that several violations can be tied together because they either happened in a sequential manner, they repeat over time, or they are all part of a larger case.

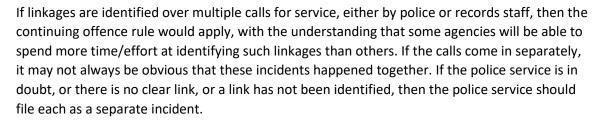

In order for the continuing offence rule to apply, enough elements of the crime must be the same for it to be considered one incident.

Two or more violations of the law (and their related victims and CSCs) are grouped into the same unique incident if they are committed by the same person or group of persons, AND:

- they are part of simultaneous or sequential actions that occur at the same place (not repeated actions over a long period of time, but actions committed simultaneously or in sequence in a short period of time at the same place), or
- ii) they are part of interrelated actions over a short period of time, that is, actions where one action leads to the other or where one is the consequence of the other(s), or
- iii) when a violent action is repeated over a period of time and all the violations only come to the attention of the police at one point in time, or
- when a series of similar crimes (such as a series of mischiefs) committed at the same location by the same individual(s), come to the attention of the police at one point in time.

Please note that "conspiracy to commit" and the crime for which the CSC conspired are counted as separate incidents if they occur at different times (before the crime occurred).

The terms governing when one can use the Continuing Offence Rule (and thereby group several violations into one incident) can be complex and sometimes seem contradictory. It is the purpose of this section to try to outline when to use the rule, and to include as many of the most common situations as possible as illustrations.

Below is one example where it might get reported in different ways depending on how the calls come in:

Example A).

6 calls come in from 6 complainants within an hour all reporting youth keying cars on the street in front of their house. One officer attends and files all in one report using one UCR incident with a counter for the number of motor vehicles targeted.

Example B).

6 calls come in from 6 complainants over a 24 hour period, each reporting discovering their vehicle had been keyed. The calls come in to different dispatchers and during different shifts. It is not readily apparent to the officers attending that they all occurred together. Each officer files their own report with their own UCR incident.

Both of these examples are correct. The continuing offence rule is meant to be a tool to help minimize the administrative burden of UCR reporting. Statistics Canada uses the counter to inflate incidents, so whether reported as one incident with a counter of 6, or 6 separate incidents, the same number of incidents will be counted.

Here are detailed circumstances under which the Continuing Offence Rule applies:

1) Several violations in a sequential manner

Phillip breaks into a house, while there he confronts the owner and assaults him.

Both of these violations occurred at the same time and place, so would be included on one incident.

Rebecca drives down the street and hits two cars, she leaves the scene of the accident and drives another 5 minutes and hits another car.

All of these incidents occur in a sequence, although they might have happened on different streets (locations), it is generally thought of as one continuous dangerous driving case, and can therefore be included in one incident.

A call comes in with regards to a suspicious vehicle. Police attend and discover a driver who is impaired. In addition, drugs are found in the vehicle. This should be reported as two incidents (traffic and non-traffic are always separated), one for the impaired driving (traffic offence), and one for the possession of drugs.

2) Part of interrelated actions over a short period of time

Chris sets fire to a private house and two occupants die in the blaze.

In this instance, the death of two occupants is a direct consequence of the initial arson. One UCR incident should be reported with two violations (one for arson and one for the death of the two occupants).

Sara is arrested for possession of stolen goods. She is transported to the station where a thorough search finds drugs on her person.

This should be reported as one UCR incident. The drugs should or could have been discovered by police officers at the original scene. A new incident is not required simply because the location of the discovery is different. In addition, reporting two separate incidents would make it look like the possession of narcotics is taking place at the police station.

3) Several violations repeat over time

Arthur is accused of sexually assaulting his daughter. The incest took place over 5 years.

This is reported as one UCR incident as it came to the attention of police at one time. The 'to' and 'from' dates are used to indicate the period of time for which the violation repeatedly occurred.

Kathryn, working at a gas station, has been steadily skimming money out of the till, each week she takes $10 or $20 out. The amount is so small the owner does not realize for 8 months.

This repeated violation is one continuous offence and should be reported as one UCR incident. A new incident does not need to be entered – the 'to' and 'from' dates should be used to indicate the period of time which the violation occurred over.

John and Laura are in a tumultuous marriage. Over the last 3 years there have been several incidents where John assaulted Laura, however, police were never contacted. Finally police are contacted and a report is taken.

Since the assault spanned 3 years and all the information came to the attention of police at one time, police can file one incident of assault and use the "to" and "from" dates to show how long this has occurred. If, however, police were contacted on multiple occasions, they should report one incident each time they are contacted.

Once the violation is known to police and reported in an incident, should it re-occur, it would now need a new incident, i.e., if a man has repeatedly sexually assaulted his daughter, is charged by police, and a year later is re-arrested for the same offence, an entirely new incident is required.

4) All part of a larger case

Warren commits murder, and sets the building on fire (arson) in order to cover up the murder.

These are both part of the larger murder case, so should be reported in one incident.

Lindsay is selling crystal meth to an undercover agent. Over a 3 day period, the agent buys 5 times from the dealer to make a case.

This can be considered one continuous incident. Most of the elements are the same, and it is a controlled environment, since the police are knowingly allowing the infraction to be committed. However, day to day drug cases and major crime investigations may differ from one another in their use of this rule.

Major Case arrests 4 individuals involved in a series of drug transactions with different clients over different times and locations.

These can NOT be grouped into one offence, since too many of the elements are different.

When should you NOT use the Continuing Offence Rule?

Generally, enough elements of the crime need to be the same to use the Continuing Offence Rule.

Amelia commits a Break and Enter on Elm Street, and then an hour later robs a bank on Crystal Lake Boulevard.

There are too many elements that differ with this example. This should be reported as two separate incidents. Generally, the location should be the same to use the Continuing Offence Rule.

The Mischief Exception to "place"

Some crimes are of a less serious nature. When several of these come to the attention of police at the same time, they are dealt with as one larger incident.

Jean-Denis keys cars down one street and then up another. Although we understand that vehicles are separate locations, the crime had a unifying theme, and occurred in the street (the cars were not stolen or moved) so for this purpose we see them as all part of one larger incident of Mischief.

Similarly, if someone breaks 5 mailboxes on 5 houses, it is all part of one incident (as long as it became known to police all at once). Similarly to a series of motor vehicles being targeted with Mischief, as long as it is only Mischief and it is believed to have occurred in a sequential manner by police and all came to the attention of police at the same time, you may use this exception.

A good rule is to look at how police will respond and investigate this offence. Will they consider this one general occurrence? How different are the elements of the crime?

Here are some additional scenarios highlighting the Continuing Offence Rule:

A call came in for a fight inside a hockey arena, a second call came in with the caller stating some males are outside now. The 3 males that were involved in the fight are now in the parking lot and just slashed the tires of a car in the parking lot. There were a total of 8 vehicles that had their tires slashed. There were 3 males arrested.

One incident can be used with an Assault and one Mischief (with a counter of eight), since the subsequent mischiefs all occurred in a sequential manner. As mentioned above, all the information came to the police at one time, the cars had their tires slashed at the same time.

Call came in as a theft from a department store, a description of the vehicle and direction of travel was given by the caller. An officer attempted to stop this vehicle and it would not stop, speed of 50km/hr increased to 65 km/hr, then increased to 110 - 115 km/hour. Vehicle is eventually stopped with one suspect arrested. We then learn that the vehicle was reported stolen earlier that day and the suspect was on probation.

Although these all occurred in a sequential manner, there are too many different variables for it to be one incident. The Theft of the motor vehicle occurred much earlier and at a different location and time as well as a being a different complainant and violation type. Also note that traffic offences are always reported as a separate incident.

A call came in as a theft from a large shopping mall. There were 2 suspects who had stolen items from stores and left the mall on 3 occasions to hide the articles in the woods. On their third attempt they were arrested for theft under. They stole from 3 different stores, and 3 file numbers were generated for Theft under $5000.

Since this call involved three different stores (locations) it would be recorded as three separate incidents.

A call came in as a smashed window and an open garage door at a radiator business. The caller didn't go in to see if anyone was still there. Upon arrival, the officer noted that the main window of the business had been completely smashed out and that the door had also been left open. The key holder arrived and it was discovered that 2 vehicles were stolen, 1 vehicle was inside the business, and the other was outside. There was a safe missing containing documents, no cash.

Each motor vehicle is considered a separate place, but because the motor vehicle thefts occurred at the same time and at the same location, they can be recorded on one incident with a counter of two. The Break & Enter would be recorded on a separate incident report.

Cross-Charging

In some situations, like a fight, the CSC may also be a victim. This would require that 2 incident reports are created, one with Person A as the CSC, and another with Person A as the victim. The same person cannot be both the CSC and the victim on 1 incident report.

3.4.1 Violations against the Person (1000 Series violations)

All actions committed against the same victim(s) occurring under the same conditions are grouped together. 1000-series violations are dependent on the actions of the CSC(s) and the link between their different actions and victims.

Two men commit a bank robbery. They assault a customer of the bank during the incident and when outside the bank they shoot and kill a bank guard who was attempting to stop them.

In this incident there are three different violations of the law: a murder, an assault, and a robbery. They are all part of the same incident because they are all interrelated: the murder and the assault are the consequence of the robbery and they would not have occurred without the initial offence. Accordingly, all violations are grouped as one incident.

A bus driver and two passengers are assaulted by two young men.

The three assaults are part of the same incident because they occurred simultaneously at the same place.

A motorcycle driver cuts off a passenger vehicle, the vehicle follows the driver to the next light. At the light a fight ensues resulting in one of the passengers being transported to the hospital, while the other has relatively minor injuries.

Since the assault took place at the same time and place, you would submit one incident record, with one CSC record (the motorcycle driver) and two victim records (the passengers). Each victim record should show their own level of injury (minor and major injuries respectively).

There are certain violent violations which may be perpetrated against the victim multiple times over a given period. It may not be possible to determine the specific number of times these violations were committed. When a violation is committed repeatedly against the same victim(s) by the same CSC(s) and it comes to the attention of police all at the same time, only one incident is recorded. The 'to date' and 'from date' variables would be used on this incident to indicate the violation(s) took place over a period of time.

3.4.2 Violations against Property (2000 series violations)

Break and Enter

Given the definition of "place" and the nature of Break and Enter, there can only be one violation of Break and Enter on an incident. Therefore, the number of incidents of Break and Enter reported is equal to the number of different places broken into. Note, if a single house, the attached garage, and the backyard shed are broken into, only one Break and Enter is scored because all these structures are located at the same place (as defined above).

Examples

A man breaks into ten separately rented apartments in an apartment building.

Ten incidents of Break and Enter will be reported because each distinct apartment is defined as a separate place.

A house and detached garage on the same contiguous property are broken into.

Only one incident of Break and Enter is reported because the house and detached garage are considered a single place situated on a single piece of property.

Four offices in a building are broken into after closing hours and ransacked. The offices are occupied by: 1) a lawyer, 2) a dentist, 3) a doctor, and 4) a construction firm. They do not share their space and have no business connection.

Four incidents of Break and Enter will be reported to the UCR survey because each office is deemed a distinct and separate place.

A secured locker room in an apartment building is broken into and goods are stolen from ten lockers.

One incident of Break and Enter will be reported because all the actions were committed in sequence over a short period of time at the same place.

Some money is stolen from ten lockers at a swimming pool complex.

One incident of Theft would be reported. Break and Enter is not scored, as the perpetrator committed theft in a publicly accessible location.

A number of apartments are broken into in an apartment building. Three of them were unoccupied, the other two were occupied.

Three incidents of Break and Enter will be reported - two incidents for the two occupied apartments, and one incident for the group of three unoccupied apartments. This is because each 'place' must be separately owned, rented, or occupied (except for motor vehicles).

A woman breaks into a garden shed and steals a bicycle.

Since the violation meets the Criminal Code definition of "Break and Enter" it should be coded as a Break and Enter and not a Theft.

Arson

The number of incidents of Arson is determined by the number of different 'places' where a fire was set.

Examples

Two units in an apartment building are set on fire by two separately ignited fires, without the intention of burning the whole building down.

Two incidents of Arson are reported (a fire was set in 2 different places).

A fire is set to one unit in an apartment building and four units burn down.

One incident of Arson (only one fire was set). If a fire is set to a single home and the neighbouring house also burns, there is only one incident of Arson (only one fire was set).

A store and the two apartments on the second floor are destroyed by fire. The investigation concludes that the fire was criminally set at the back of the store using gas.

One incident of Arson would be reported.

A fire is set in a vehicle parked on the street.

One incident of Arson would be reported.

Two fires are set to two houses on the same street.

Two incidents of Arson will be reported because the two fires were set to two different places.

Two fires are set at the back of an apartment building.

Only one incident of Arson will be reported. The fire was not set to individual apartments and the apartment building itself was the target of the CSC.

Several fires are set in a recreational facility by one person.

Only one incident of Arson will be reported as the recreational facility is a single 'place' and the fires were set within the single place.

Possession of Stolen Goods

When the police apprehend a person (or group of persons) who is (are) in possession of stolen goods, this is scored as one incident. The scoring is not dependent on the number of stolen objects, the number of persons who own the objects, the number of CSCs, or the number of places where these objects are stored. Please include the property codes with any incident of Possession of Stolen Goods.

Please note that Possession offences can now be entered on the same incident as Theft offences.

Please use the following guidelines when deciding whether to include the possession as a part of the original offence or to code to a new incident:

- If police apprehend a suspect during or immediately after a Theft, possession is implied as part of the theft violation. That is to say do not code the Possession, just the Theft.
- If police apprehend a suspect later and charge the CSC with Possession, please create a separate incident for the Possession and a separate incident for the Theft, as it is not clear that the same persons were involved in the Theft as the Possession (possibly another CSC)

Examples

A man is arrested in a parking lot selling stolen watches.

One incident of Possession of Stolen Goods will be reported.

A man is arrested for speeding. The police discover stolen goods in his car. Subsequently, additional stolen goods are discovered in his house and his cottage.

One incident of Possession of Stolen Goods will be reported.

Stolen goods are discovered in a warehouse. The investigation reveals the stolen goods were stored in this place by two men.

One incident of Possession of Stolen Goods would be reported to the survey, and two persons would be charged in relation to this incident.

Joel arrested for Possession of Stolen Goods. He tells police that he bought them from someone else. Police discover more stolen goods in the apartment of the second man.

Two incidents of Possession of Stolen Goods must be recorded, one person is charged for each incident.

Identity theft (theft rules apply)

Identity theft refers to stolen identity information that is gathered but not used.

John goes into Adam's Wallet. He copies down the credit card/debit card info and security code on the back. The information was not used.

A card skimmer is installed at a gas station and comes to the attention of the police. The suspect is arrested when he comes to collect the skimmer.

Identity fraud

Identity fraud refers to stolen identity information that is used.

Greg's wallet is stolen and his credit card/debit card is used to make online purchases.

The UCR survey uses a fraud counter to track the number of fraudulent cheques issued and the number of times a transaction card is used in a fraudulent manner.

One record will be created for each transaction card which is used for fraudulent purposes together with a count of the number of times that it was used. For Fraud by cheque, one record will be created for each location where cheques were 'passed' by the same person or group of persons within a given period and a count of the number of cheques issued at each location will be provided. A 'count' will be generated for the number of fraudulent actions occurring within each type of Fraud.

Fraud

For most other types of Frauds (i.e. excluding cheques or transaction cards), one record will be created each time a fraudulent action is committed. One record will be created when a number of similar fraudulent actions occur at one time in one location, using the counter to indicate the number of frauds that occurred.

A man enters a store and knowingly issues three "bad" cheques and subsequently enters a second store and knowingly issues two additional "bad" cheques

Two incidents of Fraud will be reported to UCR 2.* with the 'counter' indicating three for the first incident and two fraudulent actions, thus showing the number of cheques passed within each store.

A woman enters a shopping centre and uses a stolen credit card/debit card in three different stores.

One incident of Fraud will be reported to the survey with the 'counter' indicating three fraudulent actions.

A health/fitness club sells lifetime memberships to two hundred customers at one location (place). The club never opens.

One incident of Fraud will be reported with the 'counter' indicating two hundred fraudulent actions, thus showing the number of times a similar fraudulent action had occurred at one time and one location.

Theft and Mischief

Motor Vehicles

Each Motor Vehicle Theft violation will be recorded as a separate incident, unless the vehicles were stolen from the same location at the same time. In this case, one incident of Motor Vehicle Theft will be recorded, with a counter showing the number of vehicles stolen.

NOTE: incidents which allow motor vehicle as a stolen property AND a counter can have more than one type of motor vehicle as stolen property on the record.

Examples

Four men working as a gang steal three cars in a parking lot.

One Incident of Theft of a Motor Vehicle would be reported with a counter of 000003.

Five vehicles are damaged by spray paint on a residential street.

One incident of Mischief would be reported with a counter of 000005.

Two vehicles are stolen from a private driveway.

If the vehicles were stolen at the same time and same place, they can be reported on one incident regardless of whether the location is a car dealership, a parking lot or a home. If the parking space had been somehow enclosed, i.e., fenced-in parking lot, a Break and Enter violation must also be included as part of the incident, as per the Criminal Code.

Theft or Mischief

The definition of an incident for this category of violations is not based on the number of objects stolen or the number of CSCs. It is dependent on whether or not the CSCs are acting together, and on whether or not the thefts or mischief are committed simultaneously or sequentially at the same place.

Examples

Two men go into a coatroom and steal from ten coats.

One incident of Theft is scored as the action takes place simultaneously at the same place and the two men act together.

Two bicycles are stolen from the backyard of private property.

One incident of Theft will be reported.

A woman enters a shopping centre and shoplifts in five stores.

Five incidents of Theft will be reported as the thefts were committed at five different places.

A student steals from seven lockers where he attends school.

One incident of Theft will be reported.

Two individuals go to a mall - they split up and both shoplift.

They are not acting together so two incidents will be reported.

Theft from Mail

Since breaking into a mailbox does not meet the essential elements of Break & Enter, only include the Break and Enter violation where there is evidence that a break-in occurred into a mail-room or into another place to obtain the mail.

If mail is stolen and the mailbox is damaged in the process, you may consider adding the Mischief violation to the incident.

If there is evidence of a Break and Enter as part of this incident please include this on the UCR record. For example, if a home was broken into and mail was stolen.

3.4.3 Incidents Comprising Many Violations of the Law

A single incident can group together violations of a different nature (e.g., violations against the person, property violations, etc.). For example:

A man breaks into a house to steal, but he is caught in the act by the owner. He assaults the owner and runs away.

The property violation (Break and Enter), and the violation against the person (Assault) are of a different nature, but they are grouped together because they are interrelated - they were committed by the same person at the same place and occurred in close chronological order.

In some cases violations come to the attention of the police while they are investigating an unrelated matter - for example:

A man is arrested by the police because he is driving a stolen car. While being detained and searched at the scene, the man is found to be in possession of cocaine.

Due to the violations coming to the attention of the police at the same time during the same occurrence, they can be grouped together and reported on the UCR survey as one incident.

SECTION 4: DATA ELEMENTS

Violation

Violation		The VIOLATION field occurs 4 times on the Incident Record.
Variable(s): Record: Type: Size: Format:	VIOL1, VIOL2, VIOL3, VIOL4 Incident Alphanumeric 4 NNNN

Definition

A hierarchical coding structure, used to identify the four (4) most serious violations in an incident. We collect information on the MSV as it is the most comparable way of reporting incidents. The MSV is used in the annual publication of crime statistics in Canada. This has been the standard for reporting the official crime statistics since the UCR's inception. Information on other violations reported within an incident serve to provide additional characteristics of the incident and are available from the CCJCSS upon request.

Values	Description
0000	Invalid
Blank	Blank is invalid for the first four bytes and the first attempted/completed indicator
1NNN – 7NNN	Criminal Code , federal and provincial statute offences VIOLATIONS between 1000 - 7999 must be recorded on separate incidents from VIOLATIONS in 9NNN range (traffic violations)
9NNN	Traffic violations

Rules

The MSV is determined by the following criteria, in order of priority:

- violations against the person (1NNN series)
- greatest maximum penalty prescribed by law

Homicide violations (1110, 1120, 1130, 1150 and 1160) take precedence over other violations with the same maximum penalty.

The Most Serious Violation (MSV) must be recorded in VIOL1.

The ranking of the second, third, and fourth violations (VIOL2, VIOL3, and VIOL4) in order of seriousness is not required.

Score a secondary violation (VIOL2), or third, or fourth, only if a charge could result from it alone within the incident.

Definition

This data element describes the nature of the violation in that it indicates whether the act or omission was carried out, or whether there was only the intent to carry out the act or omission.

Value	Туре	Description
Blank	Invalid	For the first coded violation and for each subsequent violation that is coded (e.g. , if second violation is coded, second attempted/completed must be coded).
A	Attempted	As defined in the Criminal Code , Section 24(1) "Everyone who, having an intent to commit an offence, does or omits to do anything for the purpose of carrying out the intention is guilty of an attempt to commit the offence whether or not it was possible under the circumstances to commit the offence."
С	Completed	The particular violation was carried out either through an act or omission by one or more persons.

Definition

This data element will describe the type of location where the incident took place. It is split into two variables:

1. The first variable describes the type of location (LOCATION).

2. The second field is scored only for residential locations that involve violations against the person (1NNN series). It describes whether or not the residence was occupied either by the victim and/or the CSC (Charged/Suspect – Chargeable) at the time of the incident (OCCUPNCY).

Location
Value	Type of Location	Description
Blank	Invalid	Invalid
00	Unknown	The actual place where the incident occurred cannot be determined.
Residential Locations
01	Single Home, House	Examples are single dwelling house, semi- detached, row house, garden home, duplexes, - places which have an outside entrance for each owned or rented unit. This includes the physically connected structures to the single home dwelling such as a garage. These structures primarily function as private residences and include the surrounding property.

		Also include here mobile home dwelling, cottages, vacation houses which function as primary, secondary or temporary private residences. Includes walkways, front and back yard
03	Dwelling Unit	These are residential units contained in high rise or low rise structures of which two or more are rental or owned units. Include units contained in apartments & hotels, time-shares, rooming houses, senior citizen complexes and residences (e.g., university) which operate primarily (over half the available units) on long term lease arrangements, and condominium or strata titled, multi-unit structures. This category includes only the units themselves and excludes surrounding properties, common areas, parking lots (underground and ground level), hallways and lobbies to which the public has access.
04	Commercial Dwelling Unit	These are commercial residential units which are contained in a multi-unit structure or many single structures combined on one property where the principle business is to rent overnight accommodation on a daily basis include only the individual units themselves and exclude all common areas - parking lots, hallways, lobbies, and surrounding properties. Include units contained in motels, hotels, and bed and breakfast places, and apartments & hotels which operate primarily (over half the units) on short term rental basis.
		Scoring Note: A house-boat owned by the person and used as a temporary residence should be coded as 01 – Single Home, House. A rented house-boat should be coded as 04 – Commercial Dwelling Unit.
27	Nursing Home	Establishments that provide accommodation primarily to persons who are 65 years or older who are unable to live on their own and require assistance with daily tasks. The establishment provides nursing and personal care (such as bathing and dressing), supervision or other types of care as required by the residents. Residents do not have their own apartments, but reside in either private, semi-private or ward rooms. Common spaces, such as activity, dining and yard areas are shared. Include in this category the surrounding properties and associated areas (e.g., parking lots (underground and ground- level), hallways, lobbies, walkways, stairwells and elevators).

28	Retirement Home	An establishment that is occupied primarily by persons who are 65 years or older. Residents can live independently with minimal to moderate support, or no support at all. These facilities can provide meals, assistance with bathing, personal hygiene, or dressing. Residents are independent for the most part, but may prefer or require some assistance in their daily routines. Residents reside in their own apartments which may be of varying size (studio, one-bedroom or more), and may be equipped with either a partial or full kitchen. Include in this category the surrounding properties and associated areas (e.g. parking lots (underground and ground-level), hallways, lobbies, walkways, stairwells and elevators).
29	Community Group Home	Establishments that provide residential care services for adults and youth diagnosed with disabilities; people in rehabilitation, or; children or young people who cannot live with their families. These facilities provide room and board, and may provide personal care, protective supervision, counselling and health care.
30	Halfway House / Young offender group home	Includes public and private group homes that house youth or adults convicted of offences or who are participating in a corrections diversion program.

Non-Residential Locations
02	Private Property Structure	Include the structures or buildings which are on the private property but are not considered to be part of the main dwelling house. Examples : garden sheds and detached garages, privately owned fishing boats, huts and airplanes
		We capture this separately because we want to show the difference between a B&E to a home and a B&E to a garden shed.
05	New or Used Car Dealership	Commercial enterprise whose primary function is to sell motor vehicles. Exclude auto body shops and gas stations and other automotive repair dealers.
06	Bank and Other Financial Institutions	Any commercial/public enterprise whose function it is to provide banking and/or financial transactions on behalf of its depositors and owners (shareholders). A place of business for the custody, loan, exchange, or issue of money, for the extension of credit, and for facilitating the transmission of funds. Examples: banks or trust companies.
07	Convenience Stores	Any commercial enterprise that provides basic food shopping convenience to the public as opposed to a large grocery store. These stores offer less of a selection in merchandise but are open for business longer hours, sometimes 24 hours a day, and usually on Sundays. They retail perishable food staples such as milk, bread, butter, eggs, etc., but as well offer for sale other sundry articles. These types of enterprises are generally utilised by the consumer to quickly purchase small items required for the household. Examples: corner stores or chain operated convenience stores.
08	Gas Station	Any gas bar or gas station outlet providing service facilities to the motoring public and commercial vehicles needing fuel. The outlet, whether providing self-service pumps or full service to the customer, retails gasoline, propane, diesel fuel or any combination of those or other petroleum products. Included in this category are gas outlets with attached convenience stores.

		Examples: self-serve or full service gas stations.
09	Schools During Supervised Activity	Include junior kindergarten through to grade 13/ Cégep schools or equivalent (e.g. Sylvan Learning Centre or Montessori) where the main purpose is to provide education (either public or private) to children. Includes all structures upon the school ground including school parking lot, playground etc. Only criminal incidents that occur during or just outside of regular school hours or during a school sanctioned extracurricular activity are included here. This would include offences occurring during normal school hours
		Examples: a fight in the bathroom between classes or theft from a locker over the lunch hour) or when the offence occurs during a school sanctioned extracurricular activity after normal school hours (e.g., a school sporting event or school dance).
10	Schools Not During Supervised Activity	Include junior kindergarten through to grade 13/ Cégep schools or equivalent (e.g. Sylvan supervised activity Learning Centre or Montessori) where the main purpose is to provide education (either public or private) to children. Includes all structures upon the school ground including school parking lot, playground etc. Only include criminal incidents that occur obviously outside of regular school hours and outside of a school sanctioned extracurricular activity. Examples : This would include offences occurring outside of normal school hours (e.g., a "break and enter" into the school building over the weekend) or when the offence occurs during a non-school supervised activity (e.g., an offence occurs during a Cub Scouts meeting – the Cub Scouts are using the school facilities but are not a recognized part of the school curriculum).

Incident Clearance Status

Incident Clear	ance Status
Variable(s):	INCCLRST
Record:	Incident
Туре:	Alphanumeric
Size:	1
Format:	А

Definition

This data element will describe the status of an incident (unfounded or founded), and if it is a founded violation, its clearance status (not cleared, cleared by charge or cleared otherwise).

Value	Title	Description
	Unfounded Incidents
A	Unfounded	It has been determined through police investigation that the offence reported did not occur, nor was it attempted.
	Four	nded Incidents – Not Cleared
x	Open / Still under investigation	This clearance option is to be used for all open investigations and for those where action has yet to be taken on the reported incident. It includes incidents that cannot be classified as "Y - Insufficient evidence to proceed" or "Z - Victim/complainant declines to proceed (no CSC identified)".
Y	Insufficient evidence to proceed	When there is insufficient or conflicting evidence for the police service to substantiate laying a charge or recommending a charge to the Crown.
Z	Victim/complainant declines to proceed (no CSC identified)	The CSC cannot be identified either because the victim/complainant or other witnesses do not want to identify a CSC or they do not want to actively participate in the investigation.
	Founded Incidents – Cleared by Charge or Charges Recommended
С	Cleared by charge (includes charges recommended)	At least one CSC has been identified and there is a criminal charge laid or recommended to be laid against this individual in connection with this criminal incident.

W	Charges recommended but all declined by Crown	When the Police have recommend to the Crown that charges be laid, but the Crown declines to proceed with any of the charges. This clearance will largely apply to provinces that require Crown charge approval (i.e., New Brunswick Quebec and British Columbia), but can be used by police in other provinces where an incident involves a recommendation to the Crown.
	Founde	d Incidents – Cleared Otherwise
D	Suicide of CSC	The CSC takes their own life prior to the department laying charges
E	Death of CSC (not suicide)	The CSC loses life by circumstances other than suicide, prior to the police laying charges
F	Death of complainant / witness	The complainant in the case or an essential witness to the incident loses their life through any circumstances prior to the police laying charges
G	Reason beyond control of department (policy)	By directive either for policy or stated procedure, the department cannot lay charges
н	Diplomatic immunity	CSC is a diplomat of a Member State of the United Nations and is therefore covered under the Privileges and Immunities Act 1977, which exempts the CSC from charges for specific offences committed by them in Canada
I	CSC under 12 years of age	Children under 12 years of age cannot be prosecuted for criminal activities
J	CSC committed to mental health facility	The CSC is not available for prosecution because: a) they are committed to a mental health facility without the hope of early release or
		b) As per conditions set by the court or Review Board under C.C. 672.54(b).
к	CSC outside of Canada, cannot be returned	CSC is not present in Canada and cannot be returned to Canada to face charges because Canada does not have an extradition treaty with the country in question or the government decides not to proceed with extradition, therefore no charges are laid.
L	Victim/complainant request that no further action is taken (CSC identified)	The CSC is known and sufficient evidence has been obtained to support a charge, but the victim/complainant request that no further action is taken by police and as a result police use discretion to not lay or recommend a charge.
М	CSC involved in other incidents	The CSC is involved in another incident in which charges have been laid, it is decided NOT to lay charges against them for this particular incident. Should only be used if the CSC has already been charged in YOUR jurisdiction

N	CSC already sentenced	The CSC is already serving a sentence in a correctional facility and no useful purpose would be served by laying charges in connection with this particular incident
0	Departmental discretion	For reasons not already outlined in any of the other categories listed above and is not a diversionary program, the department's administration decides not to lay a charge against the CSC. For example, if a CSC is given a warning, caution or a referral to a community-based program.
R	Diversionary Program	The CSC is diverted away from the court process into a formal diversionary program. Commonly referred to as "Alternative Measures or Extrajudicial Sanctions."
S	Incident Cleared by a Lesser Statute	Applies to less serious violations that can be cleared by municipal by-law or lesser statute – Note that a CSC needs to be identified in connection with the incident.
т	Incident Cleared by Other Municipal/Provincial/Federa I agency	Incident cleared by another municipal/provincial/federal agency. A CSC has been identified in connection with an incident in your jurisdiction, however, charges will be laid by another municipal/provincial/ federal agency for their incident, and you are satisfied clearing your incident by T. Note, no charges will be laid in your incident.

If 'CLEARED OTHERWISE', CSC must be identified and a CSC record attached

If CLEARANCE STATUS = C or W, at least one CSC record must be present with CSC STATUS = 1 (charged).

If CLEARANCE STATUS = X, Y or Z (not cleared) then CSC records must not be attached to the incident.

If CLEARANCE STATUS = D-O, R, S, T CSC STATUS must equal 2-7 (processed by other means).

If CLEARANCE STATUS = C-O, R, S, T, W CLEARANCE DATE cannot = not applicable (9999999)

Incident CLEARANCE STATUS in order of seriousness = C, W, D-F, G-K, L-R, S-T, X-Z, A.

Definition

For the purpose of national police-reported statistics, cybercrime encompasses any criminal act as outlined in Canada's Criminal Code where Information and Communication Technology (ICT) is the target of the offence, or whereby ICT is integral and vital in the commission of the offence.

ICT includes, but is not limited to, the internet, computers, servers, digital technology, digital telecommunications devices, phones and networks.

Texting, messages on Facebook and Twitter for example are all to be considered as cybercrime activity if a criminal offence (such as uttering threat or criminal harassment) is involved.

If a person opens an email in Ottawa, but lives in Montreal, the crime will be coded with a location where the person is at the moment of opening the email (ex: house), the case will be taken by the police service where the mail was opened (Ottawa) and the police service where the person lives should enter the case as assistance (Montreal).

A cell phone thrown at someone has technology present, but should not be considered cybercrime.

A fraud over the phone or internet uses the technology, so should be reported as cybercrime.

Cyber Crime Indicator Variable: CYBCRIND

01	Yes	There is evidence or some indication that information and communication technology (ICT) was the target of the Criminal Code offence, or was integral or vital to the commission of the offence.

02	Instrument	Offences where the information and communications technology (ICT) is integral or vital to the commission of a Criminal Code offence. These can be considered 'traditional crimes' committed through ICT. Examples include , but are not limited to, criminal harassment, fraud, distribution/sale of child pornography, theft, and identity theft when committed through the use of information technology.
99	Not Applicable	Information and communications technology (ICT) was not involved in the incident.

Rules

If CYBERCRIME INDICATOR = 01 - Yes then CYBERCRIME TYPE cannot be 99 - Not Applicable.

Incidents which involve a violation of 1370 or 1371 require the CYBERCRIME INDICATOR be 01 - Yes and the CYBERCRIME TYPE be 02 - Instrument.

If FRAUD TYPE = 60 - Computer then CYBERCRIME INDICATOR = 01 - Yes.

Where a computer or the internet was used for disabling other computers or defacing websites, do not code both 'target' and 'instrument'. In these cases, score the computer/internet as the 'target' of the crime.

Format: Composite:	NNNNNN = Hate Crime Indicator (2 bytes) + Hate Crime Type (2 bytes) + Hate Crime Motivation Detail (2 bytes)	(Please avoid coding hate crime type as 'Unknown'. CCJCSS will follow up on ALL incidents coded as such.)

Definition

Hate crime is defined as a criminal violation motivated by hate, based on race, national or ethnic origin, language, colour, religion, sex, age, mental or physical disability, sexual orientation or gender identity or expression, or any other similar factor.

Suspected hate crime is a criminal offence against a person or property with reasonable suspicion that is motivated by hate, bias, or prejudice, and cannot be proven to be solely motivated by hate.

Guidelines for determining if an incident should be coded as a hate-motivated crime

In order to properly identify and code hate crime incidents, consulted investigators have identified the importance of considering the surrounding circumstances. These may include (but are not limited to):

- what was said
- timing of any slur
- history between parties
- level of threat displayed
- when applicable, the severity and context of violence, vandalism, and/or destruction of property, i.e., how an object was vandalized
- absence of any other information
- was a victim 'randomly' targeted?
- perceptions of the victim
- visibility of the victim
- only person of that characteristic in neighborhood?
- other similar people/groups targeted
- is the person visibly different? Are they 'out' if LGBT?
- community context/neighbourhood
- race/ethnicity/sexual orientation of suspect
- all surrounding and supporting evidence.

Other guidelines for determining if an incident should be coded as a hate crime:

1) The crime is directed at a community. To be considered a hate crime, the incident does not have to be directed at an individual. For example, in R. v. Simms (1990) the court has upheld that hate-symbols such as swastikas should be counted as hate crimes because of their impact on communities. To say that perpetrators are not aware that their actions may offend or be interpreted as hateful is not really credible. To this end we can interpret actions to reflect motive. The Swastika is an international hate symbol and using it can be interpreted to mean there is hatred behind the displaying of the symbol. This holds true for other hate graffiti as well. If an accused spray paints a statement calling for harm to certain races or ethnicities and the police later arrest the person and the person claims it was only a joke, the police should still count the incident as an incident of hate-motivated graffiti.

We do not have to have an actual victim to report a hate crime. If someone spray paints a swastika on a bridge, we still consider this as a hate-motivated mischief, even if the bridge does not belong to a particular individual. Victimization is projected to all community members. There is a sense of group vulnerability, and possible community fear, tension & polarization.

- 2) Statistics Canada would like to record all incidents of hate-motivated crime whether or not an accused has been identified. The perpetrator's actions and/or words may demonstrate that their reason for committing the crime was based on hatred for an identifiable group.
- 3) The victim need not be a member of that group for the incident to apply. Therefore, the characteristic of the incident and the characteristic of the victim may not match. Examples include if someone carves a swastika into the door on a catholic woman's home, this is still considered an anti-Jewish incident or if a straight man is attacked and called anti-gay names while being beaten, this is still considered an anti-gay incident. We look at the characteristics of the offence not the victim.
- 4) Any other similar factor includes factors not innumerate specifically in section 718.2 of the Criminal Code, but for which the police service believes that the individual was targeted with hatred because of an identifiable characteristic. This could include, for example, hatred of the victim's profession, political ideology, or their socio-economic status (e.g. individuals who are homeless).
- 5) There must be evidence to support that this specific incident was motivated by hate and not simply opportunity.

If HATE CRIME TYPE is 00 - Unknown, HATE CRIME MOTIVE must be 00 - Unknown.

If more than one motivation could apply, score the principle factor motivating the incident. As an example; someone who is black and gay assaulted and called anti-gay words would be scored as an anti-gay incident. The race in this example is irrelevant. And the reverse is true if they were assaulted and called anti-black names.

Sexual Orientation should be chosen as a category with respect to who a person is attracted to. Sex/gender should be chosen as a category for how a person self identifies (example: gay is a sexual orientation category, transgendered is a sex/gender category). The two categories are not exclusive in that it's possible to be both transgendered and gay.

Special Survey Feature

Special Survey Feature
Variable(s): Record: Type: Size:	Incident, CSC (Charged/Suspect – Chargeable), Victim Alphanumeric	Unedited data in a free format variable length field to the core UCR record to be used for special ad-hoc analysis.
Definition

This requirement is not a specific field, but rather an interface capability and is intended to increase the flexibility of the survey.

Previously, UCR2 data could only be submitted in a fixed record length format based on explicit data requirements. This made the survey extremely rigid as the addition of new data elements involved significant redesign of both respondent interfaces and the CCJCSS data processing system. The UCR2 data processing system has been modified so as to be capable of accepting variable length records. Therefore, extra data (beyond the core requirements) may be appended to any one of the CSC, Victim, or Incident records. Data submitted through the special survey feature could be used for answering special research questions, prototyping changes to the core requirements, or adding optional or secondary data elements.

System Requirements

Respondents must be able to easily select fields currently existing on their police records management system and append them to the Victim, CSC, or Incident records. Similarly, respondents must be able to discontinue sending these data if they are no longer needed.

In appending these fields, the respondent must be able to specify the position on the record that the field will be written to and the length of the field.

Once a new field is appended to the UCR record, all subsequent add and modify transactions for a particular record will include the new field, even if not included in the original transaction.

Once a new field is discontinued, all subsequent add and modify transactions for a particular record will no longer include the field, even if included in the original transaction.

It identifies if the record is new, that is it has never before been submitted to UCR. It identifies records that have been changed and are to update data already on the UCR data base or to delete records on the data base.
Value	Title		Description

3	Delete	The respondent wishes to delete a record that was previously sent to the CCJCSS during a previous reporting period. Note: This value applies only for incident records.
Rules
 Report a 'change' (3 & 1) to previously sent data only if the change affects one of the fields or data elements which are contained in the UCR Incident based Survey. To report a change to an incident, or an associated CSC or victim record, you may proceed in one of two ways: A hard delete: Submit a "delete" for the affected incident record. All records (both those that changed and those that did not) must then be resubmitted. If an 'Add' transaction is submitted and the file is already present on the record from a previous addition, the old file will be deleted and replaced by the newly submitted file.
